Scattered thunderstorms will develop Sunday afternoon through the late evening. Main threats include damaging winds and lightning. Hail around the size of quarters will be possible in some storms as well.

Sunday's Weather

Weather Forecast Office

El Paso, TX

Issued Jul 18, 2020 8:26 PM MDT

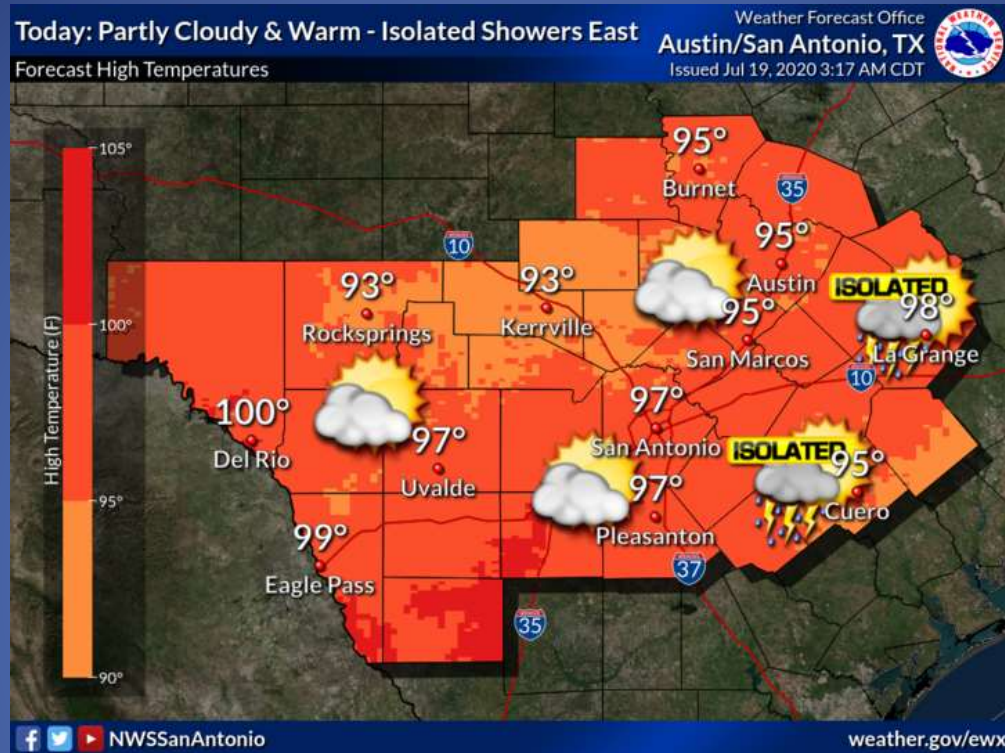

@NWSElPaso

weather.gov/ElPaso

Near seasonal temperature tomorrow, with partly cloud skies through the afternoon. Clouds will start to increase in the afternoon, as storms start to build over the mountains and higher terrain. Better storm coverage exists in the mountains, but once these storms start to kick around outflows, storms in the lowlands will get a chance to form as well.

Hazardous Weather

Partly cloudy and warm for most locations today. Isolated showers and storms are possible this afternoon, mainly east of I-35 and I-37.
